like? Little did I know that by writing this month's Center Stage all my questions would be answered.

For many years, I have been attending USA Dance dances. During this time, I have admired this elegantly dressed couple who sit and look lovingly at each other at their favorite tall table for two. We all know who I am writing about! Of course! It is George and Jean. Little did I know their last name is Littlefield!

Then, as the saying goes, I got the rest of the story. No, I got the whole story. Let me share it with you! George is from North Carolina and moved to Daytona Beach in 1968. Jean hails from Connecticut and decided to make Daytona Beach her home in 1977. The stage was now set for George to have the most rewarding nightcap of his life. After celebrating his mother's birthday, George stopped in to Club Mocambo. Meanwhile, Jean's friends, knowing she was new to the area wanted to introduce her to one of the nicer clubs in Daytona. Like I wrote before, the stage was set. Shortly after midnight, George sauntered up to this lovely lady and asked her to dance. George says, "The rest is history," and what a history it is! They have been dancing now over 40 years! They look forward to each Saturday night because that is their date night! Imagine that! 40 years and they are still dating, and usually on a dance floor.

This humble couple adds elegance to any dance venue but they tout their relationship with Henry and Jean and profess their allegiance to their favorite dance hall, the Gold Star Ballroom.

So, now you think you know the rest of the story, but you don't! It is still being written! Littlefield's business is all I could have imagined. Full of treasures (furniture and more), with the most charming and elegant owners who dance elegantly, dress elegantly, love elegantly and make us all want to be just like them! Make sure you say hello to them on date night at the Gold Star Ballroom!
